

ONE
DiscoveryPoint

NOW IS THE TIME, THIS IS THE PLACE.

The next phase of College Park's transformation starts at Discovery Point, a vibrant and collaborative community that offers incredible retail, office, and residential space. Curated for thinkers, tinkers, & pioneers, Discovery Point is part of the Discovery District Research Park that serves as a natural extension of the University of Maryland's renowned research enterprise.

AT A GLANCE.

Located at the intersection of Baltimore Avenue and Campus Drive, One Discovery Point represents a vibrant, dynamic development conveniently situated within the Discovery District's burgeoning innovation district. The nine-story, 250,700 square foot building is primarily comprised of Class A office space and features a prominent location for retail and dining tenants on the ground floor. Sited for maximum exposure up and down Route 1, One Discovery Point's curved facade and interwoven balconies create an intentionally inviting experience.

DESIGN OVERVIEW

The building's angled massing creates an iconic form that reveals the innovation and collaboration that is happening on-site. Inside, full-height glass windows offer abundant natural light and unmatched views. While One Discovery Point is a sight to see, tenants and visitors also benefit from nearby scenery:

- » TO THE NORTH: The building's northern edge hugs Campus Drive, affording dramatic views to Paint Branch Park from its upper floors.
- » TO THE WEST: Looking to the west, there are unobstructed views of University of Maryland's campus.
- » TO THE SOUTH: The building forms an urban pedestrian passage, with ground floor uses opening onto dynamic open space.

Distinct in its design, One Discovery Point features a modern mix of natural and man-made materials—from natural stone to glass to steel—providing a fresh feel, while pulling inspiration from the University of Maryland's traditional campus architecture.

WORKPLACE, EVOLVED.

To attract today's best people, workplaces need to be anything but ordinary. That's why One Discovery Point is designed to be visually impressive from the exterior, and impressively versatile on the inside — which provides you with an endless configuration of flexible workspace.
