Macedonia is a business-friendly city in northern Summit County, positioned between Cleveland and Akron—approximately 18–22 miles southeast of Downtown Cleveland and 10–15 miles north of Downtown Akron. With a diversified base of light manufacturing, distribution and logistics, e-commerce fulfillment, and professional services, Macedonia functions as a strategic suburban hub within the broader Cleveland–Akron metropolitan area.

Macedonia's location provides immediate highway connectivity at the I-271/I-480 junction, with quick links to State Route 8 and the Ohio Turnpike (I-80). These connections tie directly into I-90, I-71, and I-77, supporting efficient east–west and north–south freight movement throughout Northeast Ohio and the Great Lakes region.

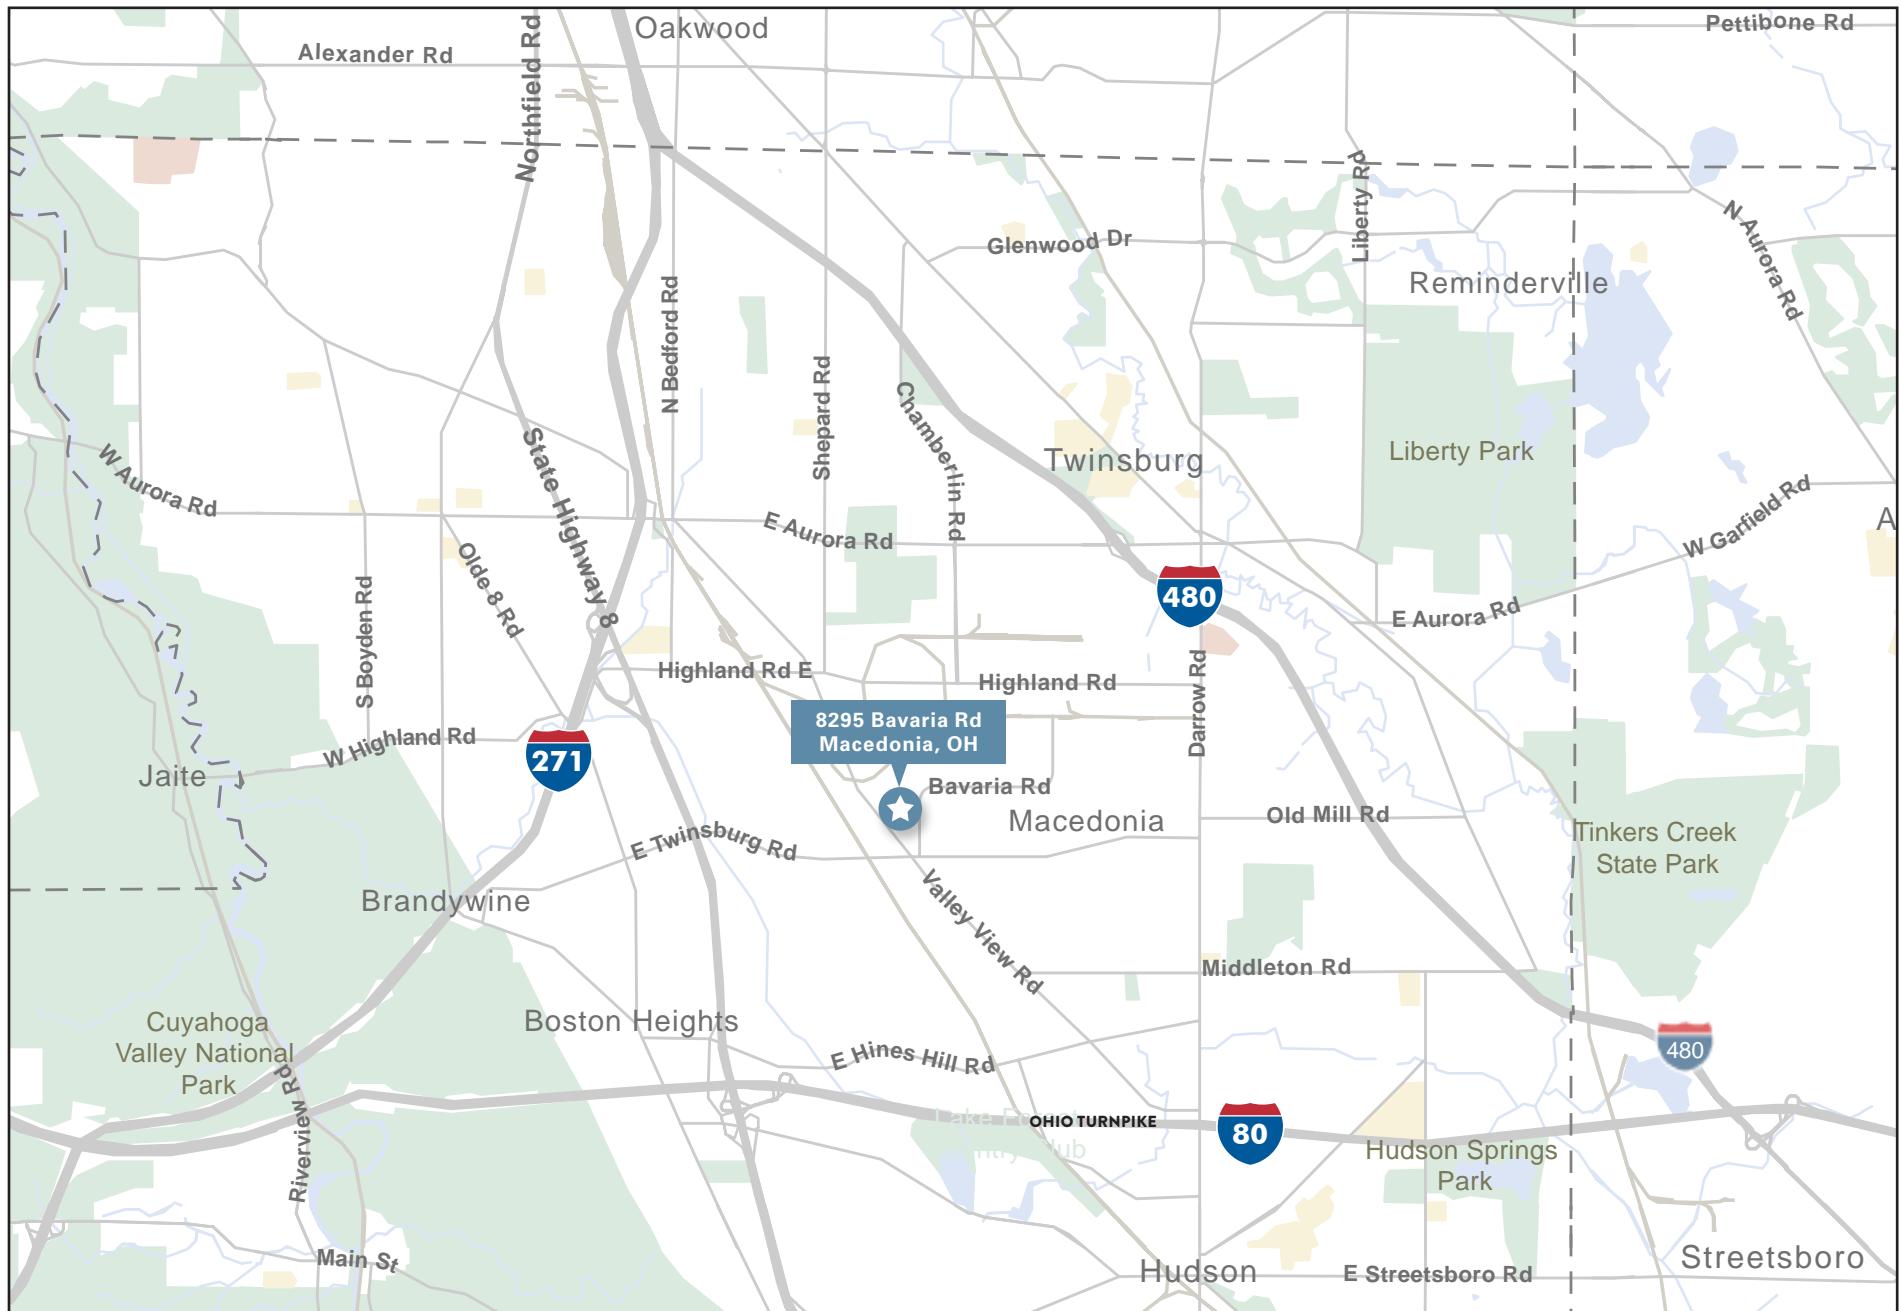

Great Lakes and multimodal logistics are supported by proximity to the Port of Cleveland for general cargo and bulk materials, plus regional rail access via Class I carriers serving Greater Cleveland and Akron. Companies benefit from nearby intermodal facilities in the Cleveland area, enabling flexible long-haul and last-mile freight strategies.

Air connectivity includes access to Cleveland Hopkins International Airport (passenger and air cargo), Akron–Canton Airport (passenger and air cargo), Burke Lakefront Airport (business aviation), and Cuyahoga County Airport (general aviation). From Macedonia, same-day distribution reaches major Midwest and Great Lakes markets including Cleveland, Akron, Columbus, Cincinnati, Toledo, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Buffalo, and Toronto.

A deep regional talent pool with strong manufacturing, engineering, and logistics capabilities is supported by nearby institutions such as the University of Akron, Kent State University, Cuyahoga Community College, Stark State College, Cleveland State University, and Case Western Reserve University.

Macedonia is a compelling choice for companies seeking to expand or consolidate operations in Northeast Ohio.
