

RED BRICK EMPORIA
DEVELOPMENT
3800 Martin Drive Emporia, KS 66081

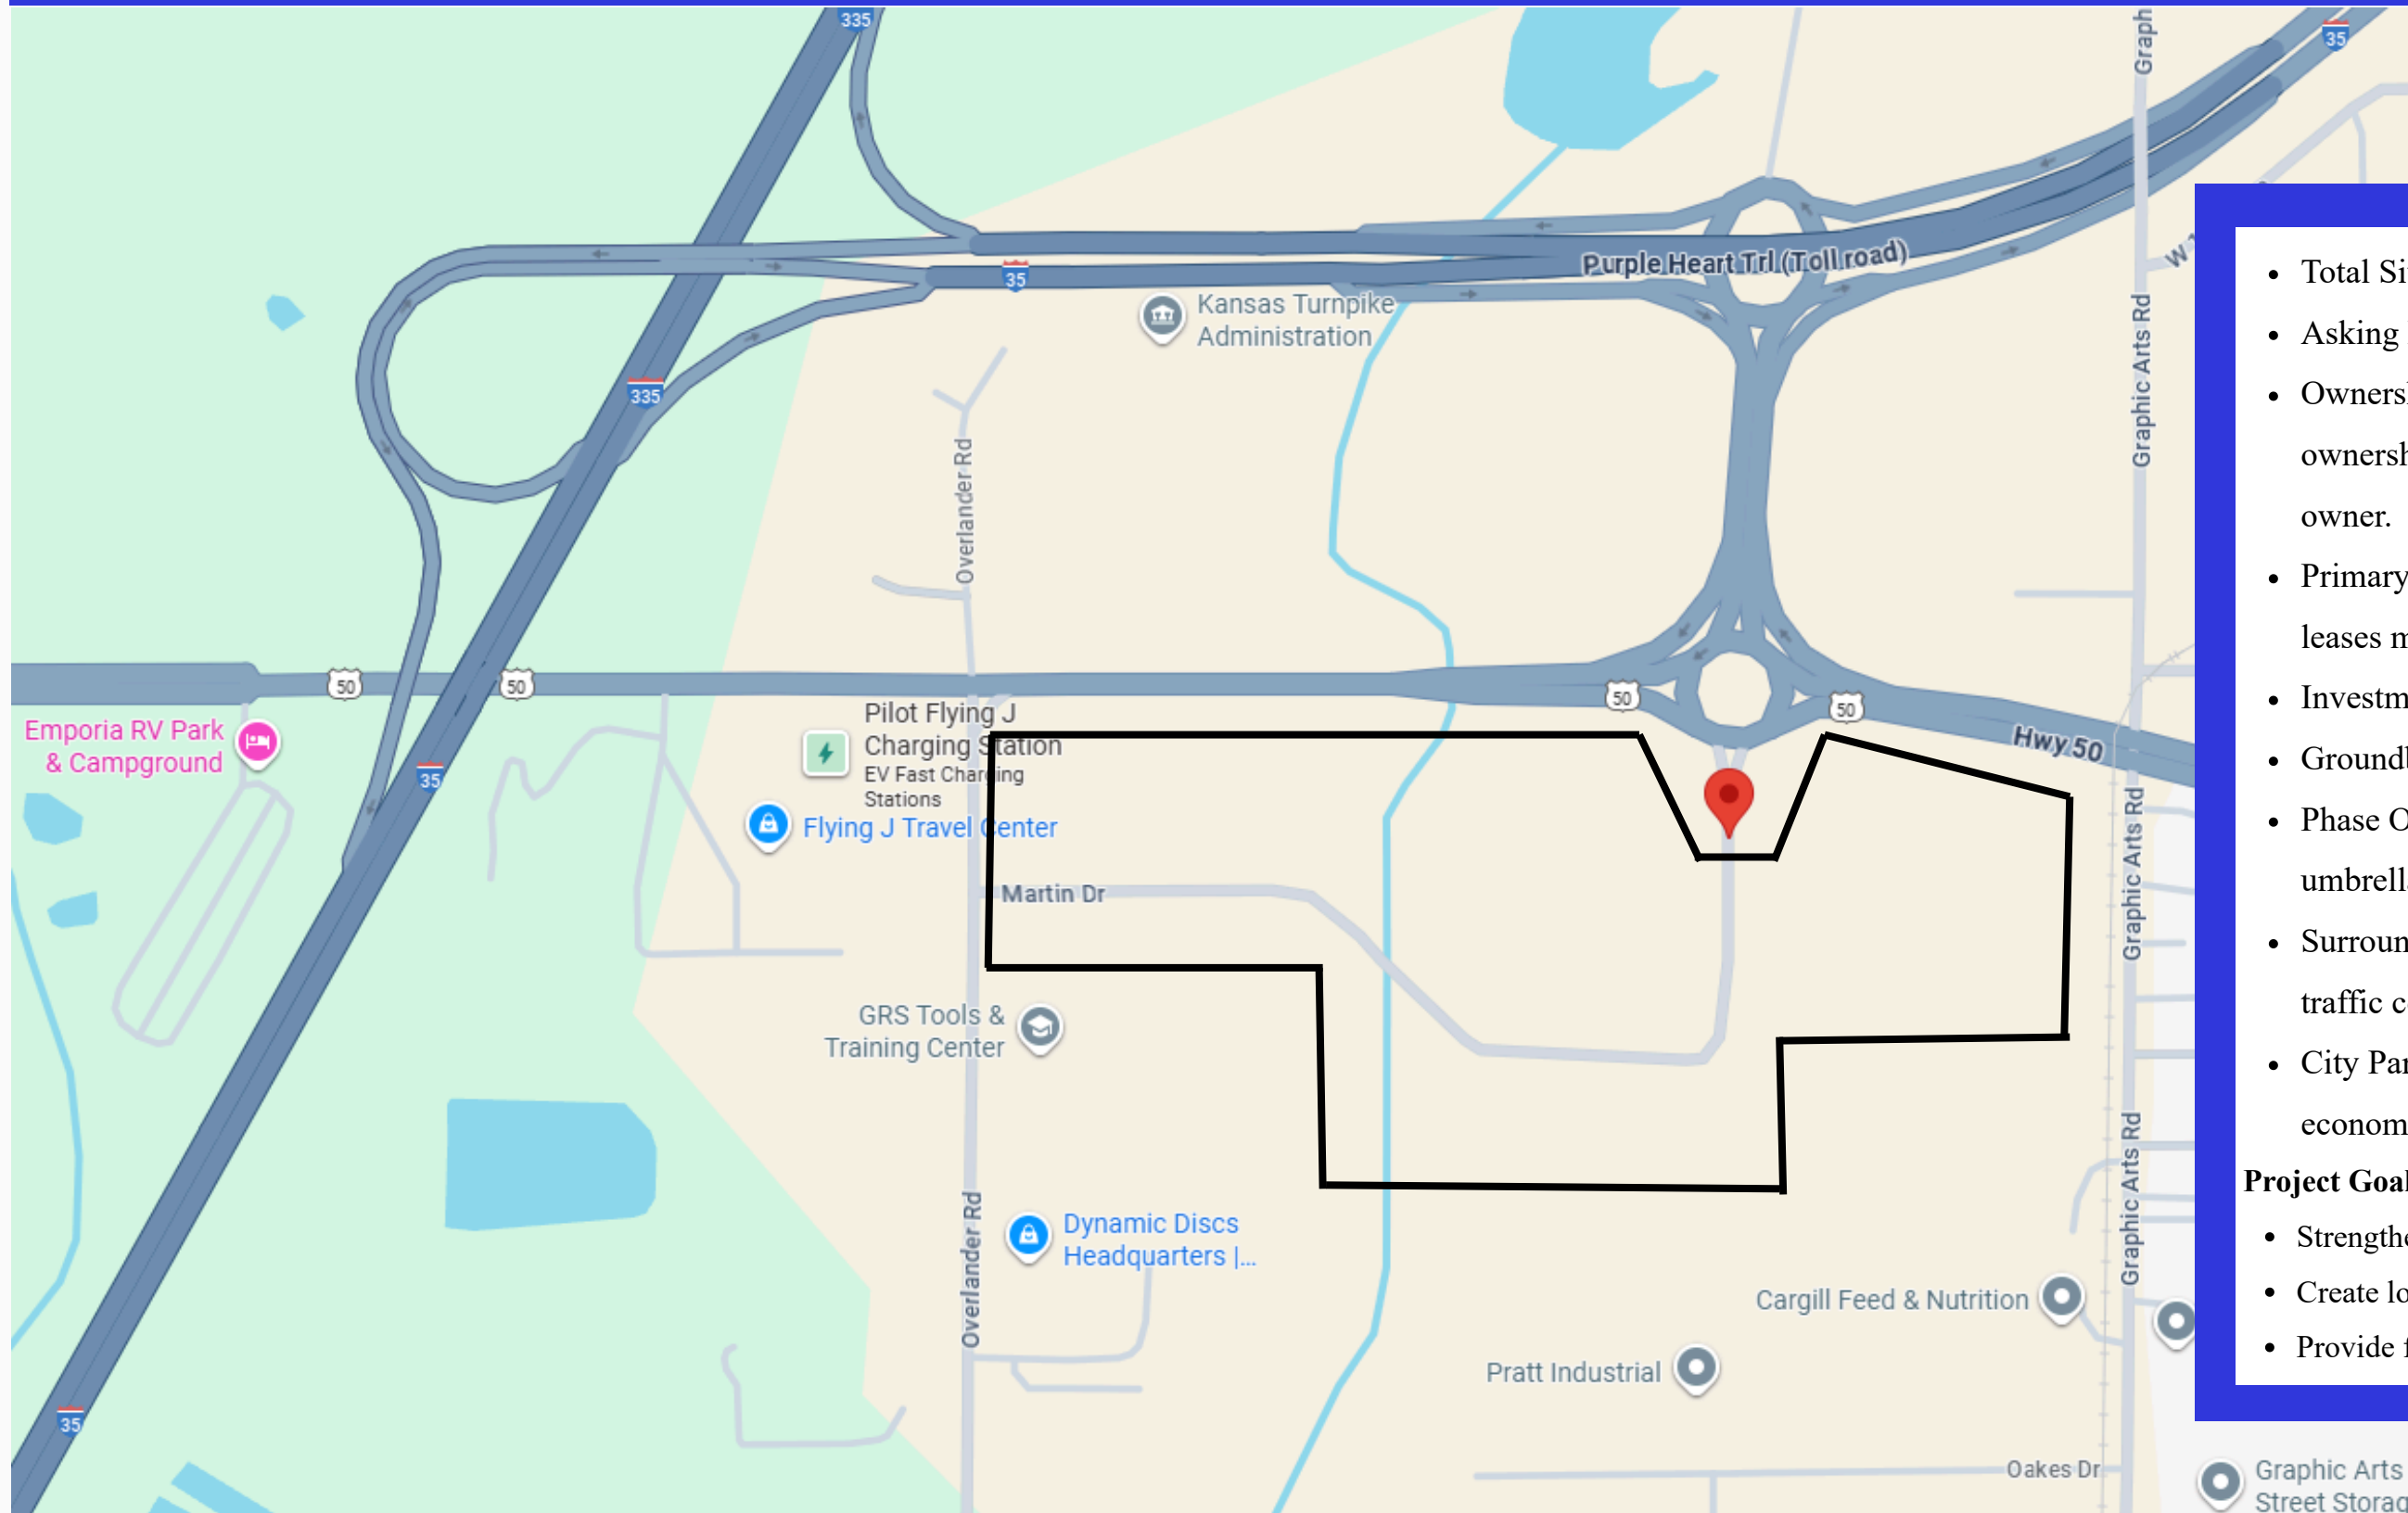

After nearly six years of planning, the long-awaited West Emporia Travel Plaza has officially broken ground just south of U.S. Highway 50 between Graphic Arts and Overlander Road. The $50 million project, led by Brownstone 3 COO Darrin Dodge, marks a major milestone following years of pandemic-related setbacks. Initial construction will focus on a One9 fuel station, a brand under the Pilot Flying J umbrella, with completion expected by mid-spring 2026. The larger development plan includes a hotel, food court, sit-down restaurant, and potentially an upscale RV park. City Manager Trey Cocking emphasized the plaza's value in bringing another nationally recognized brand to Emporia, reflecting growing regional investment and optimism for new travel and hospitality amenities in the area.

- Total Site Area: approximately 30 acres available
- Asking Price: $12 per square foot
- Ownership & Development: Led by Darrin Dodge, COO of Brownstone 3; ownership ties to the founding family, with Darrin's grandfather as the principal owner.
- Primary Objective: Sale of pad sites for national and regional tenants; ground leases may be considered selectively.
- Investment Scale: approximately $50 million total project value.
- Groundbreaking: October 2025, after nearly six years of planning.
- Phase One: Development of a One9 Fuel Station (under the Pilot Flying J brand umbrella), targeted for completion April 2026.
- Surrounding Tenants: Flying J, Casey's, and a new QuikTrip—creating a high-traffic corridor for travelers.
- City Partnership: Supported by City Manager Trey Cocking, emphasizing regional economic growth and national brand attraction.

Project Goals:

- Strengthen Emporia's hospitality and service network
- Create local employment and tourism draw
- Provide flexible commercial pad opportunities for retail and dining concepts.
