Prime Two-Story Building for Lease in the Heart of VCU Campus

807-809 W Broad Street presents an exceptional opportunity for businesses looking to establish themselves in a high-traffic, high-visibility location. This versatile 8,000 SF property, which can be demised to suit tenant needs, offers flexible configurations to accommodate a wide range of uses.

With its prominent street-level presence, the ground floor is ideally suited for retail concepts such as specialty shops, cafes, or fast-casual dining, all of which would thrive in this heavily trafficked corridor or any medical or service-oriented businesses that cater to the VCU community and the greater Richmond area.

The 2nd floor, currently built as a mix of private and open office spaces, is perfect for creative studios, professional services, co-working environments, or educational institutions seeking proximity to VCU. Its flexible layout can be tailored for tech startups, design firms, or nonprofits.

The elevator access at the rear of the property enhances the usability of the upper floor, allowing seamless access for both staff and customers. The two floors could also be combined for businesses requiring a retail-showroom-office hybrid concept and would allow for an exclusive occupancy by a single user.
