MARIN COUNTY

Marin County, at the northernmost tip of the San Francisco metropolitan area, is one of the most vibrant communities in the United States. Its population is one of the wealthiest, healthiest and most highly educated in the nation. The expanding economy acts as a global talent magnet and employment hub. Marin has a long history of being home to vibrant companies in innovative fields. Marin's unparalleled quality of life continues to attract new residents and reinforces residential property values. Residents enjoy exceptional school districts, easy access to a multitude of recreational activities, and breathtaking natural beauty. From all perspectives, Marin remains in high demand, with a dynamic economy, a desirable lifestyle, and a direct link to the urban core of the San Francisco Bay Area.

Marin remains a key component to the regional stability of the greater San Francisco Bay Area. Its low 2.7% percent unemployment rate is a sign of the County's robust economic health. A diverse workforce generates more than $25 billion of annual personal income, while a very healthy business community contributes to the growth of the North Bay region.

TRANSPORTATION

Strategically located in Downtown San Rafael with immediate access to Highway 101 and Interstate 580. Just a few blocks from the San Rafael transit center served by the SMART train and Golden Gate Transit.

SAN RAFAEL

San Rafael is Marin's answer to urban living. Sprawling, gritty, and gentrified, its business activity centers mostly in the downtown area and the Terra Linda/Northgate area to the north. The downtown area is dominated by BioMarin's headquarter campus and has been constantly expanding over the past ten years as San Rafael has become a hotbed of new development. Along with several new buildings for BioMarin having been recently completed or currently under development other major projects include the new AC Hotel by Marriott, a 140-room luxury hotel, the new Hampton Inn & Suites, a 185-room hotel near the intersection of Highway 101 and Interstate 580, and the new recently completed 41 residential unit mixed-use property at the corner of Second Street and B Street.
