PROPERTY DESCRIPTION

WHEATLAND FARM – A RARE EQUESTRIAN & EVENT ESTATE IN LOUDOUN COUNTY

Wheatland Farm is a one-of-a-kind ±43-acre estate campus in Purcellville, Virginia, offering over 41,500 square feet across eight well-maintained structures. Zoned AR-1 and nestled in the heart of Western Loudoun, this property blends modern equestrian design, historic charm, and versatile infrastructure—making it ideal for equestrian training, retreats, schools, wellness operators, mission-driven organizations, or private compounds.

Premier Facilities

At the core of Wheatland Farm are two exceptional barns: The Pavilion Barn (completed 2021): A state-of-the-art facility with 18 spacious stalls, custom rubber pavers, double wash stalls, dedicated tack rooms, laundry, accessible restrooms, and direct access to a B&D Builders indoor arena with Attwood Pinnacle footing. Above the barn, a large unfinished apartment offers future living or office potential.

The Great Barn (circa 1800, fully restored): Eight oversized stalls plus a broodmare stall, multiple feed and tack rooms, and a dedicated laundry. The upper level has been transformed into a stunning event center, perfect for weddings, galas, and gatherings, marrying historic character with modern function.

Additional highlights include a championship-grade outdoor arena (host to the 2018 USEF Para Dressage Team Qualifier), climate-controlled rider lounge and viewing deck, scenic perimeter trails, and extensive equestrian infrastructure such as automatic waterers, run-in sheds, and ample parking

Estate & Grounds

Complementing the barns, Wheatland Farm features a stately manor house, lake cottage, and multiple support buildings. Finished walkways, landscaped grounds, and extensive lighting enhance both usability and aesthetics. The property's scale and design provide the flexibility to operate as a high-level equestrian facility, event venue, or multi-purpose estate campus.

Location Advantage

Just minutes from downtown Purcellville and less than an hour from Washington, D.C., Wheatland Farm enjoys the best of both worlds—peaceful countryside charm with immediate access to one of the wealthiest, fastest-growing counties in the U.S. Loudoun County's affluence, equestrian culture, and robust economy make this estate not only a luxury property but also a strategically positioned, income-generating asset

CITY INFORMATION

LOCATION DESCRIPTION

Western Loudoun County, and Loudoun as a whole, represents one of the most affluent, fastest-growing, and economically dynamic real estate markets in the country—making Wheatland Farm a compelling opportunity for investors and commercial buyers. With a current population of approximately 421,000 and expanding steadily from around 312,000 in 2010, Loudoun is one of Virginia’s top growth counties. The county boasts the highest median household income nationwide—hovering near $157,000 in 2023—and has consistently ranked #1 among U.S. counties for household wealth. That places it well above neighboring Fairfax and Arlington, and significantly higher than the national average.

For investors, the implications are clear: there is strong and sustained demand for premium housing, high-end equestrian and agri-tourism assets, and robust commercial development. Loudoun’s economic engine is powered by high-paying sectors—technology, data centers, federal contracting, and the Dulles airport corridor—all of which bring a deep pool of skilled and high-income residents. As home to the globally recognized “Dulles Technology Corridor,” Loudoun sees immense data center investment; in fact, data centers generated hundreds of millions in tax revenue in 2024 alone, directly funding infrastructure, schools, and reducing homeowner tax burdens. That translates to better roads, top-tier schools, and rising property values—essential ingredients for long-term ROI.

Additionally, Western Loudoun’s rural charm, equestrian culture, and agricultural heritage (with two-thirds of the county’s land in rural use under active economic strategy) add valuable diversification and appeal. Places like Purcellville and Wheatland Farm benefit from a dual identity: high-access to metro amenities and a premium lifestyle setting—a combination highly prized by both owner-occupiers and commercial tenants. Between high incomes, population growth, and county budget strength (supported by a AAA bond rating and tax base heavily weighted toward property and data-center revenues), acquiring Wheatland Farm is analytical gold for any investor seeking appreciation, income generation, and infrastructure-backed resiliency.

In short, Wheatland Farm isn’t just a luxury property—it’s a strategically positioned, income-generating commercial asset nestled in the nation’s wealthiest, fastest-growing county.
