THOUGHTFULLY-DESIGNED urban office spaces

Spur is a project conceived by Zeller Realty Group and JLL. The name comes from Atlanta's great rail tradition, and the idea that the program "spurs" creativity. Four interior design firms, Nelson, Boggs Vickers, Warner Summers, and Planning Interiors, have created urban office spaces that embrace the building and the neighborhood, each appealing to a specific user type. Not only do these spaces add to 100 Peachtree's Class A status, but they will also add to the cultural discourse of the current and future state of office environments.
