A Prime Location

168 Division Street sits at the intersection of the student-driven neighbourhood known as the University District and “The Hub” entertainment district. This dynamic location is just 500 m (about a 5–6 minute walk) from the core of Queen’s University.

Immediately surrounding the building you’ll find a dense concentration of student residences, cafés, bars, nightclubs, retail shops and everyday conveniences, creating steady foot traffic, day and night, from students and young professionals living on-site and nearby.

With the campus and major student-housing developments in close proximity, a retail or restaurant tenant will benefit from built-in demand from a concentrated population of residents seeking convenience, social spots, and everyday services.
