COUNTY OVERVIEW

The most heavily populated county in the country is Los Angeles County with approximately 9.9 million people, including about 1 million that live in unincorporated areas of the county. The metropolis - formed by the six neighboring counties of Los Angeles, Ventura, Kern, San Bernardino, Riverside, and Orange - is home to approximately 19 million residents. Los Angeles County is home to one of the most educated labor pools in the country and offers a labor force of more than 4.7 million, of which more than 1.5 million are college graduates. Los Angeles County has the largest population of any county in the nation, exceeded only by eight states. According to the United States Conference of Mayors, Los Angeles County boasts a GDP among the twenty largest in the world. Los Angeles County's continued economic growth, in contrast to other areas of the state and nation, is due to its diversified economy and abundant, well-trained work force. Los Angeles County is well located on the Southern Coast of the California, and covers 4,061 square miles, including the San Clemente and Santa Catalina islands.

The County is comprised of approximately 88 vibrant and diverse cities hosting more than 244,000 business establishments—the greatest concentration in the state. Los Angeles County has a Gross Domestic Product (GDP) of approximately $446 billion - placing it among the top 20 economies in the world. The combined GDP of Los Angeles and its five surrounding neighboring counties places it in the top 10. California is generally considered to be in the top five. If Los Angeles County were its own nation, its economy would be the 18th largest in the world. It is home to more than 244,000 businesses, with more minority and women owned businesses than any other in the nation and is the nation's top international trade center and manufacturing center.

Los Angeles is recognized worldwide as a leader in entertainment, health sciences, business services, aerospace and international trade. Because the Los Angeles area is so large and diverse, it has something to offer to everyone. While Hollywood and the Los Angeles beach culture are part of our collective image of Los Angeles, the city also has more museums than any other city and some of the best hotels in the world are located in Los Angeles. Over the years, Los Angeles County has developed a diverse economic base, supported by a number of Fortune 500 companies with headquarters in the area, including Hilton Hotels, Walt Disney, Occidental Petroleum, DirecTV Group, Northrop Grumman, Computer Sciences, KB Home, Health Net, Mattel, and Avery Dennison. Key factors positively impacting the region's economic position include increased local media production by the entertainment industry and a continuing expansion of import flows. Moreover, growth in aerospace, homeland security and in the private business sector have contributed positively to the County's economy. Los Angeles' well educated labor pool, many universities, wonderful climate, and world class infrastructure will enable Greater Los Angeles to continue to be a world leader in economic and cultural significance.

COUNTY HIGHLIGHTS

- Los Angeles County is the world's 18th largest economy.
- Los Angeles part of the "Tech Coast" and is regarded as the of the main entrepreneurial regions of the world. It has approximately 200,000 small businesses, which is twice as many small businesses as can be found in any other region of the United States.
- If Los Angeles' five county area were a state, it would be the fourth largest in the United States.
- Los Angeles has more than 80 stage theaters and 300 museums, more than any other U.S city.
