COMPANY HISTORY

Excell Color Graphics began in 1990 as a small trade shop specializing in color separations and film production—founded by the late Jerry Blaising, whose vision was simple: excel in color. Over the years, Excell expanded from a 3,000-square-foot shop into a 27,000-square-foot printing facility. Tom & Jim, the current owners, have been with the business since the early 2,000s. Their leadership has helped Excell thrive by evolving to meet the ever changing needs and technology of the printing industry. From investing in cutting-edge equipment to refining the company’s processes for speed and precision, Tom and Jim have never lost sight of what matters most: making sure every customer is happy with the results of every job. It’s not just about ink on paper—it’s about relationships, reliability, and results that exceed expectations.
