MARKET OVERVIEW

LARIMER COUNTY

Larimer County, located in Northern Colorado along the Front Range, is a dynamic and fast-growing region known for its thriving economy, innovative business environment, and exceptional quality of life. Anchored by Colorado State University and supported by a diverse mix of industries—technology, biosciences, advanced manufacturing, clean energy, and agriculture—the county attracts talent and investment from across the country. Companies like HP, Intel, Broadcom, Otterbox, and Woodward have a strong presence here, and recent federal investments are fueling additional growth in small manufacturing and tech. With a highly educated workforce, a business-friendly climate, and quick access to both Denver and mountain recreation, Larimer County offers a uniquely balanced opportunity for companies and residents alike.

Among its most exciting communities is Timnath, a rapidly developing town located just east of Fort Collins with direct access to I-25. Timnath boasts one of the highest median household incomes in the state—around $160,000—and consistently ranks among the top towns in Colorado for projected job growth, low unemployment, and educational attainment. Its combination of upscale neighborhoods, new commercial development, and recreational amenities like the Timnath Reservoir make it one of the most desirable and future-forward locations in the region. As Larimer County continues to grow, Timnath stands out as a hub of opportunity, affluence, and smart planning.
