Located on sunny Galveston Island, Texas, George Manor is situated at the corner of Market Street and 15th Street on a spacious 0.444-acre lot. The main residence, the historic Edward T. Austin house, was originally built in 1868. In 1960, two guest cottages were added, and the entire property underwent extensive renovations in 2021 when it was converted into an award-winning bed and breakfast. The manor house, with its stunning original frescoes in the dining room, spans 3,812 square feet and features five guest suites. The cottages house four one-bedroom, one-bathroom apartments, making the property ideal for guests seeking privacy and comfort. George Manor is conveniently located near Galveston's beachfront and charming downtown area. Galveston Island is part of the larger Houston metropolitan area, strategically positioned near the Gulf of Mexico. It benefits from the city's maritime significance, energy
