West Los Angeles Office/ Market Overview

Encompassing nearly 100 square miles, West Los Angeles is a well-regarded business center that draws employers such as talent agencies, technology, media, finance, education and law firms. Medical employment also plays an essential role in the area's economy, driven primarily by the presence of several acclaimed medical centers, such as UCLA Health and Cedars-Sinai.

Situated in the heart of West Los Angeles, The Olympic Corridor runs along Olympic Boulevard from the eastern end of Santa Monica to the western edge of West Los Angeles. This region sits conveniently near the highly trafficked 10 and 405 freeways and services a large portion of millennials, working professionals, and young families. As a local attraction for tourists and residents, the close-to-40,000-inhabited Olympic Corridor neighborhood thrives on diversity, delivering immersive experiences with popular restaurants, which include Tsujita LA, Plan Check Kitchen+Bar, Motoring Coffee & Teaspoon tea shop.

Area Office Market Overview

Only a short commute from Santa Monica, Brentwood, Westwood, Bel Air and Beverly Hills, The Olympic Corridor has become a major hub for a diverse tenant base of professional and streaming services, medical and creative industries, including companies such as Riot Games, Fox News and Hulu. Home to roughly 1.34 million sq. ft. of office space, the neighborhood's average asking rent for office and studio space has steadily increased over the past several years. Current asking rents for newer Class-A creative office buildings range between $3.75-5.25 per square foot and are up 9.4% yoy as two recent developments (West Edge & LUMEN) deliver in the area, with no further construction planned.
