SPRING

Shake your cabin fever and head to Deep Creek Lake and experience the colorful beauty of spring in the mountains!

Once the snow starts melting, we all get spring fever here at Deep Creek Lake. It's too warm for skiing, but too cold for lake activities, so it's a fun transition between the two most popular seasons and is often one of the best times to visit.

SUMMER

Experience the incredible beauty of Deep Creek Lake and Garrett County in the summer!

One of the most popular seasons at Deep Creek Lake is summer, and it's easy to see why! With moderate to high temperatures and low humidity, the weather is a refreshing change for most traveling from cities. The relatively dry weather in the summer months means that everyone is spending as much time as possible outside. Luckily, there's so much to do in our area during the summer, rain or shine!

FALL

Deep Creek Lake and Garrett County have been consistently ranked as the #1 place to view fall foliage, and it does not disappoint! Fall generally is a healthy mix of warm days and cool nights that gradually fades into cold temperatures and snow. Most boaters hang on through October, as there are still several days above 70 degrees and the water is still relatively warm from the summer sun.

WINTER

Life in the mountains brings beautiful highs for each season, and winter is no exception, with more than 100 inches of snow falling annually. Winter is a favorite season among locals and visitors. Our home ski resort, Wisp Resort, offers more than 35 trails and has advanced snowmaking technology, providing a perfect blend of natural and man made snow.
