21 Properties Throughout Texas & One in New Mexico

LOCAL INFORMATION

Texas is the number one producer of oil and natural gas in the nation, providing the United States with energy security and independence. The industry directly employs over 400,000 people across the state and supports education, infrastructure and other public services through billions of dollars in tax contributions.

Texas' oilfield services sector plays a vital role in supporting oil and gas exploration, drilling, production and transportation. Key segments include drilling services, water treatment, well completion, equipment manufacturing, waste management and logistics. The industry generates billions in revenue and employs thousands, with the Permian Basin serving as the primary hub. Advances in automation and digital technology continue to drive efficiency and innovation across the sector and state of Texas.
