LOCATION OVERVIEW

Sherman, Texas

Sherman is a thriving city known for its prestigious institutions like Austin College and Grayson College, a vibrant arts community, and its role as the retail hub of far North Texas and Southern Oklahoma. The city is gaining national attention as a center for advanced manufacturing, with Texas Instruments investing $30 billion in a four-factory semiconductor campus - set to be the largest electronics production facility in Texas - and GlobiTech building a $5 billion silicon wafer plant. This unprecedented growth is fueling rapid expansion in housing, retail, and services, with Sherman's population projected to double in the next five years.
