PRIME RIDGEWOOD LOCATION

Located in the heart of Ridgewood, one of Queens' most desirable and rapidly evolving neighborhoods, the property benefits from strong residential demand and short walking distance to a vibrant mix of local and national retailers.

FULLY FREE-MARKET TENANCY

All three buildings are free-market multifamily assets with no rent stabilization component.

VALUE-ADD OPPORTUNITY THROUGH VACANCY & RENOVATION POTENTIAL

The portfolio presents immediate upside with two vacant units and month to month tenancy. This provides a new owner the ability to renovate interiors, allowing investors to increase rental income and modernize the assets.

SEPARATELY METERED UNITS

All residential units across the three buildings are separately metered for gas and electricity, significantly reducing landlord utility expenses while streamlining property management and expense recoverability.

Note: The exception includes unit 1L at 59-41 Palmetto Street, which is combined with the common area electric meter. Units 1L & 1R at 60-15 share the gas with the common area meter.

PROXIMITY TO MULTIPLE PUBLIC TRANSIT LINES

The properties are within walking distance to the M Train and L Train, and are further supported by nearby bus service including the Q58, Q54, B13 QM24, QM25 and QM34 lines, providing convenient access throughout Queens, Brooklyn, and Manhattan.

the neighborhood

Ridgewood, NY

Ridgewood, Queens is a historic, close-knit neighborhood located along the Brooklyn–Queens border, known for its strong residential character and architecturally cohesive streetscapes. Developed in the late 19th and early 20th centuries, the housing stock consists primarily of brick and limestone townhouses, prewar multifamily buildings, and six-story elevator apartments. These well-built assets continue to define Ridgewood’s stable residential foundation.

Today, Ridgewood is widely considered an up-and-coming neighborhood. Myrtle Avenue and Fresh Pond Road anchor the retail corridors, featuring a mix of neighborhood services, grocers, restaurants, and local businesses. Institutional interest continues to grow, highlighted by Whole Foods’ planned opening in Ridgewood, signaling strengthening retail demand and long-term investment momentum. The neighborhood’s cultural rise has also gained global recognition—ranked the #4 “Coolest Neighborhood in the World” by Time Out Magazine for two consecutive years.

Ridgewood’s dining and hospitality scene has become a destination in its own right. Notable establishments such as Rolo’s have drawn citywide attention for their wood-fired cuisine and neighborhood dining atmosphere, alongside a growing collection of cocktail bars, bakeries, and chef-driven concepts that continue to elevate the area’s profile.

Residents benefit from accessible green space, including Highland Park and Grover Cleveland Park, which provide walking paths, sports fields, and recreational amenities.

Transit connectivity is strong. The M and L subway lines provide direct service to Manhattan and Brooklyn, supplemented by multiple bus routes including the Q58, Q54, B13 QM24, QM25 and QM34 lines. Union Square is approximately 25–30 minutes by subway.

With durable housing stock, improving retail tenancy, notable dining destinations, and increasing national recognition, Ridgewood continues to emerge as one of Queens’ most compelling residential and investment neighborhoods.
