TENANT OVERVIEW

Big O Tires was founded in 1962 and has grown into one of the largest tire and automotive service franchise systems in the United States. The company operates nearly 470 locations nationwide, with a strong presence throughout the Western and Midwestern U.S. Big O Tires offers a wide range of essential automotive services, including tire sales, tire service, wheel alignments, oil changes, brake service, batteries, suspension and steering, and routine maintenance.

Big O Tires became part of TBC Corporation in 1996, one of North America's largest marketers of automotive replacement tires. TBC Corporation supports a broad automotive platform that includes franchised tire and service centers, wholesale tire distribution, and well-known retail tire brands. Big O Tires benefits from TBC's national vendor relationships, purchasing power, operating systems, and industry experience while maintaining a franchise-based model centered around local ownership and customer service.

The Big O Tires franchise platform provides operators with the strength of a nationally recognized brand while allowing individual franchisees to serve their local markets directly. This location is operated by an TBD franchisee in Arizona. A franchisee guaranty is also provided within the lease, further strengthening the tenant profile and lease structure.

TUCSON

AREA OVERVIEW

Population

Tucson, the second-largest city in Arizona, has a population of approximately 550,000 residents, while the greater metropolitan area, including suburbs such as Oro Valley, Marana, and Sahuarita, exceeds 1 million people. The city has seen steady population growth, driven by its affordable cost of living, strong job market, and desirable climate. Tucson attracts a diverse mix of residents, including young professionals, families, retirees, and students, thanks to its balance of economic opportunities, cultural amenities, and natural beauty.

The University of Arizona, one of the city's major institutions, has a student population of over 45,000, contributing to the city's vibrant and youthful energy. Additionally, Tucson is home to a large number of military personnel due to its proximity to Davis-Monthan Air Force Base. The city's demographics reflect a rich cultural history, with a strong influence from Hispanic, Native American, and Western traditions.

Employment

Tucson's economy is driven by industries such as aerospace and defense, healthcare, education, and technology. Major employers include Raytheon Technologies, the University of Arizona, Banner Health, and Davis-Monthan Air Force Base. The city has also become a hub for startups and small businesses, benefiting from state incentives and a cost-effective business environment. With a growing focus on renewable energy and logistics, Tucson continues to attract companies and talent from across the country.

Lifestyle & Entertainment

Tucson offers a high quality of life, blending outdoor adventure, cultural heritage, and a vibrant social scene. Surrounded by the Sonoran Desert and multiple mountain ranges—including the Santa Catalina, Rincon, and Tucson Mountains—the city is a paradise for outdoor enthusiasts. Residents and visitors enjoy a variety of recreational activities such as:

- Hiking and biking - Popular trails include those in Sabino Canyon, Saguaro National Park, and Mount Lemmon, which also offers skiing in the winter.
- Golfing - Tucson is home to world-class golf courses, including the Omni Tucson National Resort and Ventana Canyon Golf Club.
- Wildlife and nature exploration - Attractions like the Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum and Reid Park Zoo showcase the region's unique flora and fauna.

Tucson's arts and culture scene is equally dynamic. The city boasts numerous museums, historic sites, and annual events that celebrate its rich history and diverse influences. Some key cultural attractions include:

- Tucson Museum of Art and Historic Block - Featuring works from local and international artists.
- Mission San Xavier del Bac - A historic Spanish Catholic mission, often referred to as the “White Dove of the Desert.”

- The Tucson Gem and Mineral Show – One of the largest and most prestigious gem shows in the world, attracting visitors and collectors from around the globe.
- Fourth Avenue and Downtown Tucson – Known for their eclectic mix of local shops, restaurants, and music venues.

Tucson has also gained national recognition for its food scene, being designated as a UNESCO City of Gastronomy. The city’s cuisine is deeply rooted in Mexican and Native American traditions, with standout local favorites including Sonoran-style hot dogs, green corn tamales, and carne asada tacos. The local craft beer and coffee scenes are also growing, adding to the city’s culinary appeal.

The city’s nightlife and entertainment options cater to a wide range of interests, from live music at the Rialto Theatre and Fox Tucson Theatre to college sports at the University of Arizona. With a laid-back atmosphere, friendly community, and a wealth of things to do, Tucson provides a unique and fulfilling lifestyle for its residents.

Whether you’re drawn to its outdoor beauty, job opportunities, or cultural experiences, Tucson continues to be one of Arizona’s most appealing places to live, work, and visit.
